Wine by the glass

sparkling wine

laluca extra dry prosecco: treviso, italy nv

9 g / 36 b

grape: glera

we drink more prosecco than maybe we should.
just try to stop us.

lyrarakis 'za za zu' demi-sec: crete, greece nv

10 g / 40 b

grapes: vilana, vidiano, moscato

this wine is one part silly, one part perplexingbut totally makes us want to party. it's like a less sweet moscato wearing a lampshade on its head.

sparkling rosé

domaine j. laurens brut:

crémant de limoux, france nv

12.50 g / 50 b

grapes: chardonnay,

mauzac chenin blanc, pinot noir sparkling rosé exists to celebrate good days, turn around bad days, or spruce up the every day.

rosé

fabre en provence:

côtes du provence, france '16

9.50 g / 38 b

grapes: grenache, syrah, cinsault it's because of bottles like this that one out of every ten bottles consumed in the world is rosé.

tiberio: cerasuolo d'abruzzo, italy '16

12 g / 48 b

grape: montepulciano

this replicates a historical style of wine in the hills of abruzzo, this rosé sees less than 30 minutes of skin time. intensely colored and flavored..

sherry

el maestro sierra fino: jerez, spain

9 g / 36 b

grape: palomino

fino sherry is complex, misunderstood, and a perfect first glass of adventure.

bodegas grant 'la garrocha' amontillado: jerez, spain

9 g / 36 b

grape: palomino

it's like post-graduate fino sherry.

fortified wine

cantine intorcia vino liquoroso: sicilia, italy

9 g / 36 b

grape: zibibbo

it is a beautiful fortified expression of an ancient grape genetically unchanged since the times of cleopatra.

césar florido 'especial': chipiona, spain

9 g / 36 b

grape: moscatel

because it is one of the most delicious wines on the planet.

kopke 20 year: porto, portugal

15 g / 100 b

grape: lots

when we say "lots" it means we don't really know, or really care for that matter. port is the king of fortified wines, no details necessary.

white

zuccolo 'grave': friuli, italy 2015

10 g / 40 b

grape: sauvignon blanc

the eastern hills of friuli might be your next favorite spot for sauvignon blanc, but the fantinel family have been doing it for three generations, so it's not so new to them.

viña reboreda: ribeiro, spain 2016

10 g / 40 b

grape: godello

you might not know godello, but these vines have been overlooking the minho river for over four decades. don't be afraid to mispronounce it. we don't judge.

villa varda: friuli, italy 2016

12.5 g / 50 b

grape: pinot grigio

if you saw pinot gris in a vineyard, you'd think it was a red grape. because it is. (well, bluish-gray at least.)

morell-lawrence:

columbia valley, washington 2015

10 g / 40 b

grape: chardonnay

we won't underestimate the power of chardonnay.

barbi 'abboccato': orvieto classico, italy 2014

9 g / 36 b

grapes: grechetto, trebbiano, verdello, malvasia, drupeggio

we all (whether we admit it publicly or not) like a little sweetness in our beverages. if you are fearless in your love of riesling, this orvietto is for you.

patton valley vineyard 'purple cuvée':

willamette valley, oregon 2015

15 g / 60 b

grape: pinot noir

a blend of different blocks from a single vineyard in oregon put together by the team of wine nerds at our sister restaurant. with a lot of help from the winemaker.

la spinetta: terre di pisa, italy 2012

12 g / 48 b

grape: sangiovese

there are people who like the idea of drinking drama, funk, style and grown up chianti.

poggio anima 'asmodeus':

terre siciliane, italy 2014

10 g / 40 b

grape: nero d'avola

nero d'avola presents a darker fruit spectrum with a surprising amount of structure—for those that like old school zinfandels or thoughtful syrahs. also, we sorta like the label.

altocedro 'año cero':

la consulta, argentina 2015

11 g / 44 b

grape: malbec

the only thing more popular than malbec these days is... well... we can't think of anything.

château la croix du duc:

bordeaux, france 2015

10 g / 40 b

grape: merlot (mostly),

cabernet sauvignon, cabernet franc wines like this will help people get over their merlot aversions. plus we never should have let a movie dictate our opinions.

maison bleue 'métis':

columbia valley, washington 2014

12.5 g / 50 b

grapes: syrah, grenache, mourvèdre

if you worry about red wine staining your teeth, don't worry with this one—winemaker Jon Meuret is a former dentist.
